

Career and Technical Education

Career and Technical Education (CTE) shall be available to high school students, grades 9-12, who are interested and can profit from job entry-level skill training in preparation for gainful employment. Adult students may enroll at the Career Development Center (CDC) on a space-available basis. Adult students will pay tuition determined by each program.

Career and technical programs shall be designed to meet the employment needs of St. Vrain Valley School District RE-1J, Boulder County or the state of Colorado. Such programs shall be operated primarily under the auspices of the District's Career Development Center.

Those programs which have sufficient student and employment demand may be operated through the District's high schools independent of CDC or with CDC providing the advanced level of a program. CTE programs housed at CDC shall be considered an extension of the total course offering of each of the District's high schools, and such courses successfully completed shall be counted towards high school graduation as any course of equal time.

Career and technical programs offered in surrounding communities but not in the St. Vrain District may be available to St. Vrain students. In such instances, the District may provide reasonable tuition costs.

Transportation between in-district attendance areas and vocational centers shall be provided to students enrolled in vocational programs unless they are informed of the lack of transportation services at registration time.

Specific details regarding courses offered, the application process and other information regarding participation in courses offered at the Career Development Center and surrounding school districts can be found on the CDC website at www.cdc.stvrain.k12.co.us or through the high school counseling office.
